

CHRISTMAS CLUBS IN BUCKS COUNTY DISTRIBUTING $1,945,165 AMONG 20,148 MEMBERS DURING THIS WEEK

Bristol Ranks 2nd Among The Banks of Bucks County

TOTAL HERE: $377,140

Three Quakertown Banks Top All Others In County

DOYLESTOWN, Nov. 23.—The payoff of Christmas Savings Club accounts in Bucks county this week is enriching some 20,148 club members to the extent of $1,945,165, an all-time record for the 20 banks in the county. This is an increase of $123,223 over last year's Christmas Club jackpot.

Checks will be mailed out by most of the banks during the next 19 days. An increase in the Christmas Club funds is shown this year in every bank in Bucks county but three, and the decrease in two of those banks is very small.

The picture of $1,945,165 being released in Bucks county this week presents a "Happy Thanksgiving" and a "Happy New Year." A great portion of the big jackpot however is earmarked for certain obligations—insurance, mortgage payments, Christmas presents and obligations of a varied nature.

A survey of the United States shows that a grand total of $831,000,000 will be distributed to 10,175,000 members from 5,700 financial institutions.

Like other sections of the United States, the total distribution here in Bucks county will be about 11.3 per cent ahead of last year.

The only banks showing a decrease in Bucks county are the Bristol Trust Company, which dropped from $166,380 last year to $160,415 this year; the Sellersville National, from $32,509 to $32,009; and the Solebury National Bank, New Hope, from $33,000 to $32,800.

Quakertown's three banks will pay out a grand total of $385,000 this year to top all of the other boroughs in Bucks county—an increase of $50,795 over last year.

Bristol ranks No. 2 community in the county with a total of $377,140 paid out by two banks, which is $2,789 less than a year ago.

Then comes Doylestown—No. 3 in the county—with a jackpot of $291,000 to be paid out by the two banks; the Doylestown National's share being $18,000 to 1500 members, and the Doylestown Trust Company's share hitting $143,000 to 1500 members.

Perkasie Plans For Community Celebration

PERKASIE, Nov. 23.—A community celebration is being planned by Perkasie Chamber of Commerce for the Christmas season.

One of the main affairs, for kiddies, will be a motion picture shown at a local theatre, with carol singing and presentation of gifts included.

Two large trees will be erected on the lawn of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church at Fifth and Market streets, and an amplification system that will send Christmas carols throughout the town at regular intervals throughout the holiday season will be installed.

The welfare committee, of which Willard Worthington is chairman, will have charge of the arrangements.

President Murray, opening the CIO convention, denounced left-wingers in labor and challenged them to say whether their purpose was to "carry out the same tactics in America that their comrades are carrying out in other countries."

TRUMAN AND SOCIALISM

President Truman's friends are resenting the fact that many Americans are calling his "new New Deal" a program of socialism.

The Administration is busy saying "this won't hurt" to many alarmed groups in the nation. It is especially eager to calm down industry and finance, which are always the main victims of socialist experiments. The sharp drop in Stock Exchange prices which began the day after election indicates a general uneasiness on the part of the investing public that they are the ones whose savings will be raided to pay the bills.

The Truman supporters are especially angered when anyone says that the President got himself re-elected by abandoning everything which the Democratic party has ever stood for, and swiping from Wallace the latter's socialist pledges — copied directly from the socialist regime in Great Britain.

What do the British Socialists think of the Truman program? Do they consider it to be socialist? Do they feel that it is close kin to their own schemes?

Sometimes it is hard to answer such a question. This time it's easy. The British socialists have told us. Deputy Prime Minister Herbert Morrison, one of England's leading socialists, was the one who revealed what the British Labor (Socialist) Party thinks.

An Associated Press dispatch of November 21 contains quotations from Morrison's speech on the impending nationalization of the steel industry. He was replying to assertions made by the non-socialists that there had been a general swing away from socialism, that people were beginning to feel Great Britain was

PHILA. SWINDLER WORKED GAME HERE

Harry Beam, 51, Said To Have Fleeced Rev. Peter
Pinci on Paint Job

BAIL FIXED AT $10,000

A man accused of swindling 17 homeowners and church pastors of $4,500 in payments for painting jobs never done was held in $10,000 for court in Philadelphia yesterday.

He is the same man accused of swindling the Rev. Peter Pinci, pastor of St. Ann's church here at Bristol and Bristol police have lodged a detainer against him.

The details of the Bristol swindle were not available today as the Rev. Pinci is in Italy.

Magistrate Daly held Harry Beam, 51, of Joyce street near Schiller, on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses, fraudulent conversion and violation of parole.

Detective Frank Lynch testified that a warrant was issued against Beam by St. James' Catholic Church, Trenton, for a $240 payment. Lynch added that additional complaints have been received from New Brunswick, Riverside and Riverton, in New Jersey, and from Bucks County, Pa.

Nine new complaints were made against Beam today at the hearing at the Paul and Ruan sts. police station. He was arrested November 12 and given a preliminary hearing two days later.

One of the new complainants was the Rev. Joseph Basovsky, who said he represented the rector of St. John Nepomucene Church, 9th and Wharton sts. Beam received checks amounting to $725 for painting the church roof and never showed up to do the work, Father Basovsky testified.

News of The Schools: TOWNSHIP TEACHERS HAVE VISITING DAY

Day is Spent at Various Schools for Observation
Purposes

BENEFITTED BY VISITS

The elementary teachers of Bristol Township schools had an annual visiting day on Tuesday, Nov. 16. It was a very worthwhile affair in the opinion of all.

Some of the teachers spent the day at the Logan demonstration school in Phila., while others visited Rowland and Benjamin Meyers in Elkins Park, Cheltenham township. The teachers reported the environment, in which the children lived while in school, was of the best with bright and attractive color and harmony in the rooms. While these districts have almost unlimited resources at their command the teachers here felt, that even with over-crowded classes, it is worthwhile to do as much as possible to provide a favorable "climate" for growth and this should be well balanced as to personal, organizational and physical aspects.

The philosophy in modern education, emphasizes the role of the

TWO FEARS

America today has twin fears—war and future business conditions. The two fears are not complementary. If there is to be war, or the expectation of war that makes preparedness more and more expensive, employment will continue at a 100 per cent level under high wages. And business, though plagued by ever tighter controls, even punitive measures in some instances, will not lack customers or markets.

If war preparation because of lessened fear of a conflict should fade out, there would be quite another prospect for business. It would still be subject to bureaucratic interference and taxes but would lack the assurance of markets through rearmament activities. If production standards remained near normal, there would be rapidly accumulating surpluses ending in unemployment and cries for a great public works program.

That would increase the public debt, further cheapen money and bring still more controls.

There is every prospect that America will continue on a war preparedness economy. Aid to Europe, proposals for rearming the North Atlantic Union nations, rearmament for American forces, the call for more help to China, all point to full employment and no surpluses. The only possible deviation from that course would come through full agreement with Russia, an eventuality that does not now seem possible.

So fear of war is one thing and fear of business recession is quite another. The two do not belong in the same category. But over both of them hovers the specter of business controls, the prospect that business will turn conservative and non-expansive. In that case America's dynamic economy will tend to become static.

THANK YOUR STARS

America's wonderful private enterprise efficiency doesn't show a profit in all spots. Take the dining car service which the railroads provide. The Chesapeake and Ohio loses 80 cents for every dollar taken in by the dining cars, the Union Pacific 48 cents, the Baltimore and Ohio, Great Northern, Milwaukee and others lose 40 per cent. The Southern Railway does it better. Its loss is only 2 per cent.

Why do railroads go on losing money on that scale? Simply because private enterprise in America offers the best service in the world and meals on trains are necessary to compete with other forms of transportation. Except for competition, passengers would still be boarding trains with shoeboxes filled with cold, unpalatable fare, as their grandparents did.

Airlines took a liking when they offered free food to compete with the railroads. Now they're charging for meals, and doubtless serving them at a loss.

So thank your lucky stars that you live in a competitive country, with rival enterprises on their toes to serve you, sometimes without profit. Under any other system, your standard of living would be much lower.

Truman and Socialism

on the wrong track, and that therefore there was no real public support for the taking over of steel in England. Here is what Morrison said:

"My answer to all these sweeping claims as to what the public thinks is one word—Truman."

If this doesn't mean that Morrison, who certainly ought to be an expert witness on the question, believed that President Truman offered the American people substantially the same sort of socialism that Britain has; that "capitalistic propaganda" was back of the predictions Truman would lose; and that the American people, in re-electing Truman, voted for socialism...

If Morrison's comment didn't mean that, then what on earth did it mean?

Of course, this isn't really the best proof that the Truman program, shortly to be submitted to Congress (if the President really intends to keep his campaign promises), is point by point the same as the socialistic program now operating in England.

The best proof is examination of the programs themselves. This newspaper yesterday presented a summary of the Truman program. What about the British plan?

Just to keep the record straight, let's take it right from an official British publication. Here are quotations from "Labor and Industry in Britain," published by the British Information Services (Vol. IV, No. 12, Dec. 1946) containing a summary of the British socialist program:

"Under the National Insurance Act, which was finally passed in August, 1946,* every person in Britain has complete social security 'from the cradle to the grave.' The benefits... will include unemployment pay, sickness pay, maternity and widows' benefits, guardians' allowances (for orphans), retirement pensions, and death grants. None of the population will ever be allowed to fall below an adequate standard of subsistence."

"Where insurance cannot operate, the State will undertake to meet the costs of special benefits out of taxation..."

Inside Your Congress

Post Office Deficits

—by—
SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL
"The Gentleman from Indiana"

When you get weary of the cost of politicians running business, your Socialist friend is sure to say, "Ah, but look at the Post Office." That is supposed to knock you dead. So let's look at the Post Office—ah!

According to the commission to reorganize the executive branches of government, the Post Office last year lost $150,000,000 on second class mail; $70,000,000 on third class mail; $70,000,000 on fourth class mail; $50,000,000 on air mail; $30,000,000 on money orders and postal notes; and $12,000,000 on odds and ends.

As against this ocean of red ink in which $402,000,000 was sunk, the Post Office made a profit on first class mail of $150,000,000, showing a net loss of a quarter of a billion dollars.

On first class mail the government grants itself a monopoly. No private company can carry it for hire. If it does, the fine is $500, or six months in jail, or both. Our great big government won't stand for any competition! Yet it files anti-trust suits against businesses that suppress competition.

So the government makes a profit on the monopoly part of its business. On the other sections, where it has competition, its waste and inefficiency cause it to lose money.

In an emergency, you can send a letter by special messenger and keep out of jail. But if you send 26 or more letters by a special messenger, you have to put on the regular postage stamps just the same. The government collects the postage even though it renders no service.

Last year's losses of a quarter of a quarter of a billion dollars were incurred in the biggest boom year in history. But boom, or bust, the Post Office loses money and collects its losses from the taxpayers. According to Mr. Frank Chodorov, the Post Office has lost money 112 years, and been in the black only 8 years, in the past 120 years.

So, as an example of Socialism in action, let's look at the Post Office, ah! It pays no interest on its investment; no depreciation on its buildings; no taxes on its huge plant; no insurance. If a post office burns down, it is replaced by new appropriations by Congress. If the Post Office counted these charges among its costs, as private business must do, its losses would be colossal. Yet the Post Office is used by all the Socialist planners as an unanswerable argument for the government going in for housing, public power plants, and what not.

When you confront the New Deal Socialists with the above facts, they come back at you by saying: "Well, carrying the mail is not a business, it is an investment in a service, and you shouldn't expect a profit." But what is the moving of a ton of coal but a service? Parcel Post is a "service," but express companies are in business? You never can pin these fellows down. They short-change you on words!

I take off my hat to the clerks and mailmen. They are a fine lot of men, and the losses are not their fault. The fault is in the system. It is due to the political management of the business which puts palatial post offices in small towns to keep them voting right. The politicians, and private interests as well, load up the Post Office Department with all kinds of "free" services. The fine art of milking the Treasury via the Post Office is an ancient one, and the marriage of privilege and politics has never been divorced.

The figures I gave were for the year ending on June 30th. This year, it is estimated the loss will be double—or 542,000,000. So, when your taxes are raised by the next Congress, give three cheers and a razzle for more Socialism.

—SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

"Under the National Health Service Act, which became a law on November 6, 1946, complete medical, dental, specialist and hospital services will be available without charge and without qualification or limitation, to every one."

... there are the great projected advances in educational opportunity for all (under) the Education Act...

"Cities are to be replanned, industry and population are to be relocated, the countryside is to be protected, or reclaimed."

... an obviously basic problem—the redistribution of the industrial population...

"For housing itself, over-all priorities are decided by one Ministry—the Ministry of Health—which quickly settled the basic question of subsidies and types of houses..."

"Most food and almost all clothing are still strictly rationed... Almost all prices are still strictly controlled."

"Rents are held at pre-war levels, and housing is directed towards low rentals, made possible by subsidies..."

Imports and exports are still licensed... Direct and indirect taxation are still very high... The Government (has power) to control credits and investment policy...

The Government can control all new access to the capital market... These measures are linked to the Chancellor's cheap money policy, under which the rate of interest has been brought much lower for all types of loans."

This is a perfect blue-print of what Mr. Truman promised, down even to the last detail, the cheap-money policy, which was re-affirmed at Washington in the last few days.

The big question, and the question which sent Wall Street into a tailspin, is: "Who's going to pay the bills?"

We American citizens are paying the bills for Britain's Socialism—anyone who can add two plus two realizes that.

Who is going to pay them for us?

(*) Passed as soon as the 1946 American loan to Britain was definitely in sight.

() Made effective as soon as Great Britain was sure the Marshall Plan, with a third of its funds going to England, would pass Congress.

More of your friends and neighbors now have telephones... thanks to PARTY LINES

As you probably know, more people want telephone service now than ever before.

In providing service as quickly as possible for the greatest number of those who want it, party lines are a tremendous aid. Thanks to "sharing the line," we can serve many more people right in your own community.

Party-line service is good service, too, especially when party-line neighbors share the line considerably.

Three thoughts on party lines: Brief calls allow time for more calls... Intervals left between calls give others a chance to use the line... People appreciate considerate treatment, and return the favor.

IN LAST 16 MONTHS... MORE MEN VOLUNTEERED FOR THE ARMY than chose jobs in any other business

HERE'S THE RECORD

Between July 1, 1947, and October 21, 1948, a total of 214,616 forward-looking young American men signed original enlistment contracts with the U. S. Army. This number is greater than the number of men who obtained jobs with any other American business during the same period.

During this sixteen-month period the total of all enlistments in your U. S. Army amounted to 341,959. Of this group, 93,473 veterans returned to the Army—men who had discovered that the U. S. Army offered them more than civilian life. And in the same period 33,870 men re-enlisted to continue their satisfying, productive Army careers.

Thousands upon thousands of intelligent young men are finding worth-while, remunerative and satisfying careers in the Army. And every day more men are taking advantage of the unlimited opportunities the Army offers—opportunities that can't be duplicated in civilian life.

For instance, in the month of August, 1948, alone, 44,204 signed enlistment contracts of three years or more with the Army.

Today fifty-seven per cent of the volunteers in the Army have had previous military service—enjoyable, happy service which they want to continue.

This impressive record is solid, conclusive proof that the Regular U. S. Army offers the kind of career opportunity that the young men of our nation demand—an opportunity not only to learn but to serve at the same time.

WHY MEN RE-ENLIST

Ranking high among the reasons thousands of men give for selecting or continuing careers in the Army are the chances for rapid advancement in their chosen fields. Today the Army is expanding fast. This expansion means unlimited opportunity for promotion of skilled, highly trained men.

Advancement is important; however, there are many other good, sound reasons why so many intelligent men choose to stay in the Army. Here are but a few:

☆ On the day a man enlists the Army starts a retirement-benefit "stake" for him which continues to grow as long as he stays. At the end of six years he has established an equity which compares with a retirement benefit of $6,250.

☆ Army technical schools offer the most advanced and specialized training in interesting, practical fields—give technical "know-how" you'd have to pay for in civilian life.

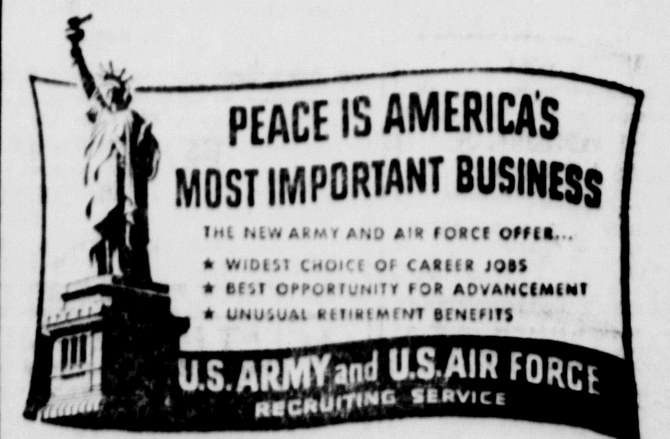

HERE'S WHAT THE NEW ARMY OFFERS YOU

Before you choose any career, compare it with a future in the Regular U. S. Army. Never before has the Army offered such tremendous opportunities for a real career to the alert, ambitious young men of America.

On the one hand you have the chance to serve your country while learning a new trade or skill—to further your education in important fields. And on the other hand there are the financial advantages, the job security, the retirement benefits, the chances for rapid promotion, the free medical and dental care that are yours in the Army.

A career in the U. S. Army is an opportunity that just can't be beat. And it's a lifetime opportunity! Get the full details now at your nearest U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Office.

We Thank Thee Lord—

Dear Lord upon the bended knee,
Our hearts aflame with love,
We praise, and thank thee for thy gifts.

That come from heaven above,
The glory of thy mortal world,
Is rich and plentiful,
Supplying every need of life,
With things so beautiful.

The gold and silver of the earth,
Beautiful diamonds too;
And shiny pearls from waters deep.

The rain the morning dew,
The cattle on a thousand hills,
Thy corn, the wheat and flax,
Bespeak thy wisdom power and might.

In gifts that ne'er do lax,
Yes Lord thy gifts are wonderful,
To every child of life,
Heaped together, running over,
Without stint or strife.

And so again dear Lord upon,
Our weak and bended knees,
We open up our hearts in thanks,
In hopes that we Thee please.

Discipline of Child Who is Ill

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, P.D.

DID you know that more children from ten to fourteen die from rheumatic fever than from any other disease? A large number of children of this age range, even older and younger, afflicted with rheumatic fever, recover, of course. But some of these who do recover have a crippled heart the rest of their life.

Any physician will tell you that many, if not most, rheumatic fever patients could be saved and restored to health if his orders were always carried out to the letter. Medical treatment usually includes a long period of quiet rest in bed by the patient. But the patient may not feel ill enough to choose to remain in bed long enough or to rest quietly. His parents are responsible for seeing that he does. How well they will succeed will depend on how well the child has been guided and controlled out to them.

As I have said before in this column, we parents best prepare the child while he is well for our successful management of him when he may be sick. How well he has learned at two or three, and from then on, to respect necessary authority, respond to positive suggestions and to cooperate with his parents, will determine pretty largely how well he will respond to such measures of guidance in an emergency later.

Physician's Orders

Consider also the problem of carrying out the physician's orders with the child having a mild case of one of the children's diseases, especially scarlet fever, in which rest and quiet are prescribed by the physician for some days after the child is light like to be up and running about.

Of course, some parents are so wonderfully clever as to win complete cooperation of a child in such emergency, even if he has had but little regard for their authority up to then. But such parents are relatively few in number. The odds are against the average parents who have not established basic control of the child earlier.

Now just imagine the child started off under the self-demand system of upbringing who is given whatever he wants when he wants it. Will he be prepared to cooperate with his physician and parents at ten, twelve or fourteen during convalescence from rheumatic fever or from other diseases whose best treatment requires days and weeks of rest and quiet?

Basic Inhibitions

Always when I have discussed safety to young children, I have pointed out the value of their having basic inhibitions in order to keep alive and whole. No doubt, the rate of injury and death of children from accidents could be halved if parents were shown how to teach inhibitions wisely instead of practically being told to throw restraints to the wind. I wonder how much the rate of death and invalidism from many diseases might in like manner be reduced. In the meanwhile we might bring up more likable and happy persons and better citizens. (My bulletin, "How Teach Tot Meaning of No," may be had in a stamped envelope.)

But mere restraint is not enough. That alone may merely incite to rebellion. There must also be understanding by the parents and mutual love between them and the child. Too, the child needs resources in himself, needs to have enjoyed listening to good music, stories read, reading alone, creating for fun with his hands, and having a rich imagination well cultivated for years and years. There are many good books to be found in the public library showing the convalescent child, any child, how to make and do simple things for fun. Also a number of the children's magazines provide good fun with a purpose.

Likewise there is an increase this year in the banks located in Dublin, Yardley, Southampton State Bank, Riegelsville and Chalfont.

The Doylestown National Bank Christmas Club increase over last year is $13,500 while the Doylestown Trust Company increase is $1,500. The average per member distribution is about $91.25 in the large metropolitan areas and $81.50 for the entire country, as against $78.50 last year. The total number of individual members participating this year in the entire country shows an increase of 675,000 over a year ago.

Bankers have estimated from a recent survey that the estimated $1,945,165 to be distributed in Bucks county this week—taken from national estimates—will be used as follows by the recipients:

Permanent savings, 32 per cent; insurance premiums, 8 per cent; debt retirement, 1 per cent; year-end bills, 12 per cent; taxes, 6 per cent; Christmas purchases, 38 per cent; miscellaneous, 3 per cent.

Other Bucks county banks will distribute the following this week: Dublin National, $29,400; Solebury National (New Hope), $32,800; Yardley National, $35,200; Southampton State Bank, $41,532; Riegelsville National, $47,000; Chalfont National, $61,000.

In the distribution of Christmas Club funds this year, New York leads the other states with about $230,000,000 with Pennsylvania second, with $102,000,000.

One bank in Philadelphia, the Western Savings Fund Society, with several branches, will distribute $3,100,000.

Bankers believe that the great increase in Christmas Club saving this year shows a definite trend in the public thinking toward individual financial security which is the ultimate financial security of the nation.

Here and There In Bucks County Towns aid Helfferich, vice president of Ursinus College, Collegeville, in a talk before 150 members and friends of Langhorne Sorosis in the Langhorne library on Thursday.

The speaker traced the origin of the various religious sects from the time they left Switzerland and the upper Rhine Valley about 1683 to the Civil War, and outlined the important part these people played in helping win the Revolutionary War.

"Today Penna. has the best farm land in America," said Mrs. Helfferich, "because it was the Penna. Germans who first started crop rotation and applied fertilizer to the soil. After 200 years of continuous cultivation, the fertile Lancaster Valley has become known as the 'garden spot of the world'."

Mrs. Helfferich who commented upon the various designs, stated that what are considered by many persons as hex signs on barns in the land of the Penna. Germans are not hex signs, but are actually religious motifs.

Mrs. Helfferich exhibited a number of articles used and made by the Penna. Germans. These included pottery, earthenware, designs for chests and drawers, ceramics and quilts. In the costume of the Penna. Germans Mrs. Helfferich gave a humorous monologue in that dialect.

At the close of the meeting which was in charge of the American home committee, of which Mrs. Herbert Roemmelt is chairman, old-fashioned crullers and coffee were served.

Township Teachers Have Visiting Day

child as an individual, living in a democratic society and on this observation day it was seen, in action. The individual was worked within his stride and was taken from wherever he might be.

The aims of objectives in both these schools were well defined. In the social studies program there was an opportunity for choice and the big objective there was a "changed behavior pattern."

Parents were an integral part of the school. In one situation they ran the library completely, checked books in and out, did repairs, etc. In the lunch room they guided the traffic.

The parents set up clubs according to their specific talents and interests—ceramics, silver, and so on. Thus experts could be brought in to give valuable help to the children. Remedial teachers were at work with those children having "blind spots" in some subjects. These adjustment classes accomplished wonders with those having individual problems. The aim was to get these children over their handicaps, so that they could eventually feel free of any limitations.

It was noted too, that on the whole, teaching techniques were well worth while observing. The teacher relationships with the children were courteous, the children at ease and self-control was their ultimate aim in discipline. Community resources were used as a part of the learning process and the child's experience in the community was a definite part of the program. Personal characteristics of the teachers were discussed as being most pleasing, stressing cheerfulness, friendliness and resourcefulness.

Days such as these spent having a "look see" at what others are doing gives a different perspective to our horizons and often spurs us on to new ventures, the teachers think.

All of these teachers had a free noon hour in which to relax and come back refreshed for the afternoon session. Their classes, in no case exceeded 35 children and in most instances were much smaller.

"Given the same opportunity the teachers would have a better chance to exhibit their talents."

"In fact it was felt by Mrs. Buckley that our teachers are unsung heroes, working and plodding along against great odds and are doing a very creditable job," says a teacher spokesman.

The Thanksgiving holidays for the township schools are November 25 and 26.

On November 30, the elementary schools will be dismissed at twelve o'clock to enable the teachers to gather together, to work on Curriculum study.

SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

GIRLS' AND BOYS' BOOKS in hard, durable laminated covers are appearing for holiday gifting. I would say these "Falcon" are suitable for ages nine to twelve. There's a schoolgirl series for girls, and four sports and four mystery stories for boys—all very popular. The price is popular too—but 50c each. This is but one item in the delightful Christmas display of books, for children of all ages, in the Book Dept. of Snellenburgs. (1st fl.)

MAKE YOUR OWN or buy a luscious ready-baked fruitcake for the holidays. The Snellenburg Chestnut St. Food Store is famed for packaged fruitcakes. "Aunt Nancy's" comes at $1.29 a pound, a California variety costs only 49c the pound. Blum's "Original Fruitcake" sells at $3.69 for two pounds. You can buy "Radiant Mix" for home baking, if you prefer—it includes candied cherries, peels, melon, etc.—55c lb. (1st fl.)

SO HANDY and gay are the Wallpapered booties (little chests of drawers) in the Notions Dept. of Snellenburgs that women are buying several for gifting. I used one as a sewing cabinet for years! The cabinets look well in a bedroom or a closet. Those at Snellenburgs are of heavy cardboard reinforced by wooden frames. A 31 in. high "chest" of five wide drawers costs $8.98. A chest 27 ins. high, with four drawers, costs $4.98. One of four drawers on top of each other, each shoebox size, costs $2.98. Grand conveniences! (1st fl.)

TOP FAVORITE of all perfumes, with me, is Houbigant's heavenly "Quelques Fleurs." Once again it has come from France, being unobtainable during the war years. Amazingly, it is put up in small quantities for gifting this year—in an exquisite tiny basket of artificial flowers. The basket, including the dainty facon, costs but $1.50, plus the 20% U. S. tax! Other sizes, run from $3.50 to $18.50, plus tax. And try the marvelous, lasting sachet—at $1.75, plus tax. At Snellenburgs. Toiletries Dept. (1st fl.)

ANY WOMAN who follows in "Daniel Green's" footsteps—wears his sweet boudoir slippers, that is—invariably shod with glamor. This year he has created more and lovelier designs than we've had from him since before the war. Prices are sometimes a little higher than for other makes, but I consider that the double wear makes "Daniel Green's" an economy in the end. There are tailored felts priced at $3.25 and $5.50, gleaming satins at $4.50 to $8.50, leathers at $8. These slippers make such acceptable gifts! Snellenburgs. Shoe Dept. (4th fl.)

YOUR MAN can readily be induced to invest in a super electric train for Junior. He'll know the years of fun they'll both get out of building a fascinating "Lionel" railroad. Warn him, however, to be content with being vice-president of the road, so that Junior may have the honor of the presidency! The Toy Dept. of Snellenburgs specializes in these wonderful "Lionel" trains, and this year the models are just about out of this world for realistic performance. There's an engine that actually spouts smoke and has a built-in whistle! Dad will find passenger coaches, freight cars, cabooses—oh, just about everything in rolling stock. He can buy everything at once or add equipment each Christmas. There are other makes of trains, too. Send Dad in to see these miniatures in action! (4th fl.)

P.S. Do send clippings with mail orders when you can! Phone free (5c, 10c, and 15c out-of-town calls only). Penna.—ENT, 10160; Jersey—WX-1150, Shop located Market, 11th to 12th Sts., Phila.—through to 1125-29 Chestnut St. Be hearin' from you!

Faithfully, FAITH.

The show must go on

Did you ever think when you walked into a movie of an evening that there are Philadelphia Electric men all over this five county area making sure electricity's on the job so the show can go on?

It's that way with most everything we do nowadays. Cooling dad's orange juice, cooking the family meals, heating baby's bottle, cleaning a room, or curling sis's hair. Electricity lends a helping hand right around the clock.

With so many new responsibilities it is more important than ever that electricity be where it is wanted, when it is wanted.

Your neighbors in Philadelphia Electric, through years of research and field tests, have helped make electricity your unfailing helpmate. Just snap the switch and it goes to work. Right now they are doing everything possible to keep electricity the lowest priced necessity on the family budget.

TACKLES
CARMEN GULLATTO ELWOOD MOUNT

MEET THE Star Performer for '49!

You're invited to drive the New Hudson—the car that's nimble and rugged beyond anything you've known before!

"The modern design for '49"

HUDSON FLOORS are recessed down within the frame (as shown above), so you get more than ample lead room in this car with the new lower center of gravity.

TRY AUTOMATIC GEAR SHIFTING in forward speeds as provided by Hudson's Drive-Master transmission—by far the easiest of all ways to drive. You can accelerate as long and as fast as you like in pick-up gear, then lift your toe momentarily, and you're in high. The shift into high comes only when you're ready! Button control on the instrument panel provides instant change to conventional driving if ever desired. Drive-Master transmission is optional on all New Hudsons at small extra cost.

Come in, try Hudson with the all-new, high-compression Super-Six engine (the most powerful American six built today), or the masterful Super-Eight. Both provide wonderfully alert power for a new type of motor car with an exclusive "step-down" design.

Millions say the New Hudson is the reigning beauty in the automobile parade—but you can't really know this great car until you drive it—and you're invited to do just that—now!

Hudson, with the new, 121 h.p., high-compression Super-Six engine or the masterful Super-Eight, takes you away with new zip, and outstrips the field with staying power.

But amazingly alive engines aren't the whole story of this star performer for '49. Hudson has a new hug-the-road way of going in cross-winds and on every conceivable kind of highway.

This all happens because—as is widely known—the lower to the ground a car can be built, the more stability it will have. Hudson has the lowest center of gravity in any American stock car!

This remarkable car has floors recessed down within a base frame (Hudson is the only car you step down into), enabling Hudson to build the lowest car on the highway, only five feet from ground to top—while maintaining more than adequate head room!

You sense a delightful conformity to the road the minute you begin to ride, and this gives you a grand feeling of safe well-being! This feeling is further enhanced by the ease with which this car is operated, and by the quiet with which Hudson glides along.

Come in, let us show you why Hudson's great engines and fabulous "step-down" design principle put this car so far ahead it is a protected investment in motor car value!

The many important advantages in Hudson's new "step-down" design are explained in a booklet available at the nearest Hudson dealer's.

GAMES THURSDAY TO DETERMINE THE GRID CHAMPIONS

The results of the Bristol-Morrisville, Bensalem-Langhorne Thanksgiving Day games will determine the championship of the Lower Bucks County League.

It has been established that Bensalem re-joined the loop last season after being absent for a number of years. With the Owls coming back into the circuit, the number of teams was increased to four.

The present standing of the teams is as follows:

Team	Won	Lost	Tied
Bensalem	1	0	1
Bristol	1	0	1
Morrisville	1	1	0
Langhorne	0	2	0

Should Bristol and Bensalem beat their opponents on Turkey Day then the two close-by schools will be in a deadlock for the crown. If Bensalem is victorious and Bristol beaten, the championship will go to the Blue and White.

Comparing the records of the four teams involved, Bensalem should be the favorites over Langhorne while the Bristol-Morrisville contest will be a toss-up. Morrisville surprised the fans last week with a high score against Langhorne while Bristol's best against the Redskins was three touchdowns.

A re-check of football records has shown that during the seasons of 1929 and 1940, Bensalem Township beat Bristol High on the gridiron. Previous statements have been printed to the effect that Bensalem never won over Bristol in football. Last week, the Blue and White and the Warriors battled to a 6-6 deadlock where a victory for either team would have clinched the Lower Bucks crown.

Now, the fans of this section must wait until next Thursday to find out the final standing of the teams. A Morrisville and Langhorne triumph would certainly be the biggest surprise and give Morrisville the title.
